With design projects running the gamut—architecture, site planning, landscape design, urban planning, graphic design and industrial design—EDGE LLC has an encompassing grasp on influencing the Seattle area's aesthetic. And it's doing so by using some of the most innovative sustainable-building techniques around. Initiated in 1998, EDGE is now the collaboration of three talented designers. The designs of Leigh Bloom, Kevin Richards and Bob Swain are driven by three simple principles—acknowledging the client's needs, honoring the site's environment and promoting sustainable building. As a result, each project conveys a uniquely Northwest aesthetic, merging beautifully into the local landscape while maintaining the natural beauty at the same time. —ALLISON LIND
